

The Carbine Club of NSW

Richard Logan

Born: April 1966, NSW

Carbine Club Member since: 2004 (Member)

Previous Carbine Club positions: Honorary Secretary

Current Carbine Club position: Committee Member

Current employment: Managing Director, Logan Livestock Insurance Agency Pty Ltd

Richard Logan is a former Honorary Secretary of the Carbine Club of NSW. He has been responsible for organising the Racing lunch since 2004 and has been involved with our other lunches and club administration in various capacities.

Richard has a lifetime involvement in the horse racing industry and is the Managing Director of the family owned business that is Australia's largest insurer of horses and recognised as an industry leader around the world. His late father Bob, a former member of the Carbine Club of NSW, founded the company in the 1963.

Richard leads an active sporting lifestyle and currently competes in triathlons and road running races.

He is a fellow of both the Australian and New Zealand Institute of Insurance and Finance and National Insurance Brokers Association. He also has a B.Bus (Finance) from the University of Technology, Sydney and an MBA from the Australian Graduate School of Management.